

STUDIO EUROPA IS GREEN

At Studio Europa we are committed to doing our part in conserving our planet. We keep our own company as eco-friendly as possible.

We are up-to-date in sustainable products for our customers by visiting Expo's such as GREENBUILD in Boston, attending local green networking mixers and being involved with USGBC. We also are joint venturing with Water and Luxury Collections, Kristen Victor, a LEED accredited professional.

We assist our clients with healthier, sustainable, energy efficient products.

Examples:

No or low VOC (Volatile Organic Compounds) paints or finishes, which means less chemical ingredients evaporate into the atmosphere (or into your home for that matter)

Veneers and woods from FSC (Forest Stewardship Council) certified dealers, which means the woods come from a forest that is environmentally and responsibly managed

Veneers glued up with eco-friendly adhesives onto a substrate that has no added formaldehyde (NAUF), which again means less toxins around you

Panel Products are CARB compliant per the PHASE 1 California regulation of January 2009, which means by law panel products now have to have a lower Formaldehyde content of .08ppm .

More energy efficient lighting such as LED products

And the list goes on...there are environmentally better choices for caulks, tile adhesives, insulation, cleaning products, carpets, countertops, roofs, heating and cooling systems, water recycling systems, etc.

In the end you have to decide on how green you want to be and which issues are important to you. Do you want to conserve energy? Use recycled products? Have a healthier surrounding? Save water?

Studio Europa believes that anything, even the slightest change you make to support the green movement, will help our planet to be a better place for us all.
